PLEASE READ CAREFULLY.

About fifteen per cent of the alumni failed to respond to the cards sent out and in all such cases the names are inserted and the last known address is given. This means, doubtless, that a great many addresses given are incorrect, and alumni who may chance to know of any cases where the addresses are incorrectly given will confer a favor upon the editor of this and future issues of the directory by reporting the facts in the case.

We trust that the new departure of a directory, in which graduates are grouped according to location, will meet the approval of the alumni, and that it will lead to a closer association by the alumni located in each city where they are to be found; and that this closer union of the alumni may result in greater interest in, and loyalty to, the University.

All corrections reported during the year will be noted in the Weekly as they are sent in.

The alumni are earnestly requested to send, to the registrar of the University, notice of the death of any alumnus of the University of Minnesota. As far as possible the report should cover the following: Name, class, degree, date of birth, place of birth, date of death and place of death; name of father, maiden name of mother, name of husband, or wife; and names of children. Also a short statement of life work—including public offices held, with date of service; literary productions; important services in any other line of activity, or any other fact or event that should be noted in this connection.

Do not hesitate to send in such information as you may have, because you cannot send in all the facts. If you cannot furnish all the items mentioned above, report all that you can, and if possible, refer to some one else who may be able to furnish more material.

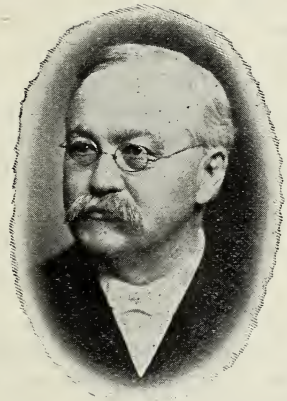
The Minnesota Alumni Weekly



J. Mac. Martin

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE WEEKLY.

You cannot afford to be without a college paper.

One year ago when the project was first talked of it was thought that if three hundred subscribers could be secured a paper devoted exclusively to matters of interest to the alumni could be made to pay its way. But the proposition met with the instant approbation of so many that the subscription list has run up to over six hundred; and instead of being made up simply of items taken from the "Daily" as first planned, the Weekly has frequently offered two-thirds, and in several instances even more, new matter.

It will be the policy of the Weekly to take from the "Daily" such news items as are likely to prove of interest to the alumni and in addition gather such items as will be of especial interest to the alumni in the way of personal mention.

During the three months of the football season there is no other one thing that is of such great interest to so many alumni as the football news, and the Weekly feels that it can point to its reports for the past year as the best reports of Minnesota football games that were published.

No alumnus can afford to be without a paper to keep him in touch with his alma mater and a paper of the character of the Weekly, published entirely in the interest of the alumni, can furnish the news in better form and with less extraneous matter than any paper published primarily in the interest of students.

The Weekly has been obliged to feel its way and do the best it could under the difficulties inherent in launching a new undertaking of such a nature and can confidently promise better service for the coming year.

The many items of personal interest which have been crowded out of this issue of the Directory will appear in the Weekly during the coming year.

12 pages of news matter each week.
36 numbers full of interesting items.
One dollar for the college year.

Send in items that you know would be of interest to fellow alumni.

THE PAST YEAR.

The one event of the year, before which all others sink into comparative insignificance is the death of Governor Pillsbury, the life long friend of the University.

The men and women who have shared the benefits of the University owe a great debt to his great foresight, wise counsel, and generous gifts of time and money which have preserved the University in the time of great crises and have made it in large measure what it is today.

It is a matter for which we ought to be sincerely thankful that Governor Pillsbury lived to see the great things which have grown out of the small beginnings of thirty-eight years ago. It is seldom granted to men to see the full fuition of their hopes, but Governor Pillsbury lived to see the institution which he loved so well and for which he sacrificed so much, one of the foremost in the land, far excelling the wildest dreams of his early days, he builded so much better than he knew. He lived to see the graduates of the University recognize their debt of gratitude to him by erecting a statue in his honor.

Of all the honors that have come to Governor Pillsbury in the course of his long and honorable career it is not probable that he ever received recognition that he prized more highly than he did the recognition represented in the erection of the Pillsbury statue.

When we remember Governor Pillsbury in the days to come, it will not be first as the Governor, and the honors he won, the man of business and the successes he achieved, though these were honorable and great, but we shall remember him as a lovable old man, grown old before his time in the service of the University he loved so well. We can say nothing that will add to the glory of his memory, we can only bring the tribute of our love and tears.

HIS LIFE.

Born at Sutton, N. H., July 29th, 1828.
Died in Minneapolis, Minn., October 18th, 1901.

He was educated in the common schools of his native town and for a time was engaged there in mercantile business. In 1855 he came to Minneapolis, engaging in the hardware business and the following year, 1856, he returned to his native town and was married to Mahala Fisk in the month of November. In 1857 came a most disastrous fire and he was left practically penniless. The business was reorganized and after six years of heroic struggle he succeeded in paying off his losses by fire and continued in the hardware business until 1875, when he sold out that business to enter more completely into the milling business in which he had already become interested. His business activities reached to every part of the State and far out into other states.

HIS HONORS.

He was elected a member of the city council of St. Anthony and served for six years. Elected to the State senate in 1863 he served continuously ten years. Appointed a member of the Board of Regents in November, 1863, he has served practically continuously ever since, there being a slight break between the end of his term as Governor and his re-appointment as regent. Elected Governor in 1875, and again in 1877 and in 1879, the only governor to serve three terms. In September, 1900, the Pillsbury statue, erected by the alumni, was dedicated.

HIS BENEFICENCES.

1889, built and gave to the University the magnificent science hall, at an expence of $150,000.

1892, built and presented a town hall to his native town, Sutton, N. H., as a memorial to his parents.

1898, established an endowment fund in conjunction with his wife, in the sum of $100,000, for the erection of a home for children and aged women.

1900, erected a home for working girls, in conjunction with his wife, at a cost of $25,000.

1901, donated $75,000 for the erection of a library for the benefit of the East Side.

HIS SERVICES TO THE UNIVERSITY.

Rescued the University when its affairs were in a hopeless condition. Repeatedly sustained and guided it through many crises which have not only threatened its largest usefulness but its very life. Watched over it as a father over an only son. Gave to it of his time and thought in unstinted measure. Loved and nourished it with the devotion of a mother.

TO THE STATE.

Saved the good name of Minnesota by saving the State from repudiating a debt which every principle of honesty demanded should be paid. As a governor his broad-minded, far-sighted, clear-headed administration of public office set a high standard of civic virtue in public service.

TO HUMANITY.

All of the deeds of this unusually active life might be classed under this title. But in addition to the deeds mentioned above it remains to be said—

He lived a righteous life—pure-hearted, clean-handed, broad-minded, sympathetic yet hard-headed, a plain man of the people. With an ear ever ready to listen to the story of the unfortunate and a hand just as ready to help those needing help, an open hand directed by a clear head, he was every inch a man.

He was a man who had accumulated his wealth not by trampling upon the rights of others, but ever ready to lend a helping hand to others, even his competitors. A man who with all his getting did not forget that there is a better owning than to own, that the giver not the getter, is the true owner.

Democratic to the last degree he hated all display. Of a sympathetic disposition he was yet capable of "a god-like anger," and hated meanness as only a noble nature is capable of hating.

And with it all he retained his simple, child-like faith, that found expression in deeds of kindly ministration such as characterized the life of the Master. It is the record of such a life that explains why eyes long strangers to tears will moisten when the name of Governor Pillsbury is mentioned. Men loved him because he was lovable. His noblest monument is in the hearts of men who cherish the memory of his kindly deeds and generous sympathy.

Such a life makes us think better of mankind and raises the standard of human living to a higher plane. The richest legacy man can leave to man, is the memory of a life lived not alone for self, but for others as well. His true claim to greatness rests upon the great Christian principle, "He that is greatest among you let him be your servant."

PRESIDENT NORTHROP'S TRIBUTE.

It is ten months since the best friend the University of Minnesota ever had, Governor John S. Pillsbury, passed away. It was a great sorrow to me that I was not able to be here at the time of his death and share in the general mourning which followed. The keen sense of bereavement felt by his neighbors and friends, by the faculty and students of the University and by the people of Minnesota, is not yet dulled. As I write these lines I have a deeper realization that he has gone than ever before. His statue stands in front of the Library a daily reminder of his ever present watchfulness over the institution that he loved so long as life lasted. But he, with his genial smile, his considerate attention, his wise counsel, his broad plans, and his wonderful judgment, comes to the University no more; and we, faculty and students, are left to care for ourselves as best we may, like a family from which the head has suddenly been taken away.

Many men have given more money to institutions of learning than Governor Pillsbury ever gave to the University. But these men gave their money and went their own way, leaving the institutions to be guided and controlled as they best might be by those in authority over them. Governor Pillsbury never for a moment ceased to watch over and guide the institution which he so loved. Carrying as he did immense business interests, enough to crush an ordinary man, there was never a moment in all the years during which I was associated with him, when, no matter how weary he might be, he was not ready to listen to any matter which concerned the welfare of the University and to give his very best advice or, if needed, his assistance. He saved the University in the early days from annihilation. He lifted it over hard places in later years. Session after session of the Legislature he attended the meetings of appropriation committees, wisely and firmly insisting that the wants of the University should be supplied, and carefully examined every bill that the University was called upon to pay. He looked after the building contracts, and saw that they were properly carried out. He saw the future that was coming and planned in a larger way for the University than a smaller man would have done. He helped students who had scant means, to finish their course of study by lending or giving them money, how many nobody can tell, but not a few as I personally know. Why should he do all these things more than other men? Because he more than any other man realized what the University could be to Minnesota. He valued thorough education more highly than do many college graduates, and he wanted to make it possible for the sons and daughters of Minnesota to obtain this education at home instead of either going without it or incurring in distant states expenses which they could not afford. His far-sighted wisdom made him see clearly what was needed, and his indomitable determination did the rest. His name ought to be honored in all coming time by every student and every graduate of the University; while his memory will surely be cherished and loved by all who have had the privilege of knowing him in his great work for the University.

—Cyrus Northrop.

CHANGES IN BOARD OF REGENTS.

The board was reduced to twelve members by death of Governor Pillsbury. His office being created by special act of legislature to honor him, ceased to exist when he died.

Rev. Samuel G. Smith resigned and Hon. Theodore Schurmeier was appointed in his place.

Regent Adams was appointed to succeed himself.

Hon. Greenleaf Clark was elected president of the Board of Regents to succeed Governor Pillsbury, deceased.

THE BOARD OF CONTROL.

For the benefit of the alumni, who may not have followed the matter, the following condensed statement is given.

The state Legislature, at its session in 1900, passed a law creating a board of control for state institutions, the purpose of the law, as stated in its title, being:

"An act, to create a state board of control, and to provide for the management and control of the charitable, reformatory and penal institutions of the state, and to make an appropriation therefor, and to abolish the state board of corrections and charities."

The original form of the bill which was reported by a special commission of three members, who were afterward appointed by the governor as members of the board of control, made no mention of the University or normal schools, either in the title or the body of the bill.

In the house an effort was made by the enemies of the bill to kill it by amending it so as to include the University and the normal schools. The amendment was defeated by a decisive vote. In the senate the same move was made by the enemies of the bill, but the bill was passed, the body of the bill being amended so as to include the University and normal schools, but the title of the bill was not changed. The bill then went back to the house and was passed in the form adopted by the senate. It was signed by the governor and became a law.

It was soon discovered that the bill was defective, as its purpose was not clearly stated in its title, as required by the constitution of the state. It was then too late to introduce another bill, to amend the title, without the consent of the governor, and he refused to give his consent.

The regents then asked for the ruling of the attorney general of the state and he ruled that the University did not come under the provisions of the law on account of the defect in its title. The regents then expressed themselves as willing to cooperate in any way with the board of control and to be advised by the said board, but with the distinct understanding that they did not in any way recognize the authority of the board.

The normal schools voluntarily waived their rights and placed themselves under the direction of the board of control. In a very short time friction arose over certain matters which the normal board claimed to be within its special province and which the board of control insisted was within its province to settle. The matter was then taken into the courts and on the third day of January the supreme court of the state handed down a decision in the case of the normal schools versus the board of control, in which a majority of three to two holds that the normal schools come under the supervision of the board of control, holding that, in a legal sense, the normal schools are charitable institutions and so are included in the title of the law. This decision rendered by Justices Lovely, Brown and Lewis, a majority of the court, is vigorously combated by Chief Justice Stuart and Justice Collins.

The question as to whether the University is included in the same class and therefore comes under the board of control has not been specifically determined. The attorney general now holds that the decision covers the case of the University as well as the normal schools, but other able lawyers hold that the University is in quite another class than that of the normal schools.

Up to the present time nothing has been done by the board of control toward assuming direction of the University affairs and it will undoubtedly turn out that nothing will be done until the meeting of the next legislature when, it is to be hoped, a bill will be passed definitely removing both the University and the normal schools from such control.

NEW BUILDINGS.

The physics building is nearing completion and will be ready at the opening of the college year or soon thereafter. The building is very artistic and is well built and will furnish excellent accommodations for this department. The building cost $75,000 and is located on Pleasant street in front of the chemistry building.

The shops for the department of mechanical engineering have been completed and were taken possession of by the department during the last college year. The building, while not particularly "a thing of beauty" is nevertheless well adapted to its purpose and provides room for the comfortable accommodation of the department.

Likewise the department of electrical engineering has been provided with a building fitted for its use. These buildings are located in the rear of Pillsbury Hall and are constructed of red brick.

At the present time a new building to cost $47,500 is under construction for the school of mines. This will furnish that school with ample room for its growing needs and will at the same time make more room available for the use of the departments remaining in Pillsbury Hall. This building will be ready for occupation by January, 1903.

At the school of agriculture new buildings have been erected for the departments of chemistry at a cost of $25,000; a veterinary and live stock building, $25,000; slaughter house, $7,500; a blacksmith shop, and a $12,000 addition to the girls' dormitory.

CHANGES IN FACULTY.

There have been numerous changes in the force of instructors but comparatively few changes in the heads of departments.

Professor Frederick J. E. Woodbridge, of the department of philosophy, has accepted a call to Columbia University, New York City. His loss will be felt in a peculiar way. He was not only an ideal instructor, but a man who touched University life in many places and always for good. His influence upon the athletic spirit of the institution will be felt for many years to come. The University has lost in him a man hard to replace. Dr. Wilde, assistant professor, has been placed in charge of the department.

Dr. Richard Burton has been granted a leave of absence for a year under such conditions that it is practically certain that he will return at the end of that time.

Dr. David L. Kiehle, who has been connected with the educational interests of the state for more than thirty years, who has left a lasting impress upon the educational trend and institutions of the state, and who for the past ten years has been professor of pedagogy in the University, resigned and will take a well-earned rest. Dr. Kiehle will devote himself to writing and lecturing upon educational topics and his long experience in the field makes him peculiarly well fitted for such work.

Dr. Geo. F. James, who has been elected to succeed Dr. Kiehle, will enter upon his duties in September. He gives promise of filling a difficult position in a most satisfactory manner.

Fred S. Jones, professor of physics, has been made dean of the college of engineering while still retaining his professorship.

The vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Otto Lugger has been filled by the election of Frederick L. Washburn to the place.

Professor Thomas Shaw has resigned his professorship but still retains a lectureship in the college of agriculture.

Dr. W. P. Dickinson, secretary of the college of dentistry, has been made dean of the same college.

Dr. E. E. Austin, of the college of homeopathic medicine and surgery, has resigned.

Dr. Gray, of the same college, resigned and Dr. A. E. Comstock was elected to the chair of surgery.

Rev. Samuel G. Smith resigned from the Board of Regents and was made professor of sociology.

Dr. Alfred Owre was made professor of operative dentistry and metallurgy and Dr. C. A. Van Duzee made clinical professor of operative dentistry.

ATTENDANCE AND INCREASE.

The increase in attendance at the University has averaged two hundred a year for the past fifteen years. And the appropriations for the support of the University during that period have always been made upon the basis of the attendance at the time the appropriations were made, and before another appropriation could be made the attendance had grown to be four hundred more than it was at the time the appropriation was made. So it has come about that the University has been obliged to care for an average of three hundred students, for fifteen years, in addition to caring for the number of students for which the legislature has made provision by appropriations.

The full force of this statement may be better appreciated when it is known that of the four hundred universities and colleges of the country that are of enough importance to be included in the list of the World's Almanac, less tnan half have an attendance as large as this number.

The Regents have so managed the affairs of the University for the past fifteen years, that they have been able not only to care for the number of students taken into account at the time the legislative appropriations were made, and with appropriations which were made only after the most careful scrutiny by the legislature and its committees, and upon the basis of the strictest economy, but have in addition cared for an average of three hundred students not taken into account at the time the appropriations were made.

It is true that the legislature saw the reasonableness of the contention of the Regents and made provision for the support of the University upon the basis of a 23/100 mill tax which brings in an increasing amount each year. But this is not enough. The people of the State insist on sending larger numbers of their sons and daughters each year and this increase has been fourteen times as great as the increase in the population, and presumably, at least ten times as rapid as the increase in wealth of the State.

UNIVERSITY FINANCES.

It is true that the State has made appropriations for lands, buildings and equipment. An immense amount of money has been devoted to such purposes, but the State owns the plant and when the increase in the value of the lands is taken into account the plant is worth as much today as the State paid for it.

One single instance will indicate what sort of men have served upon the board of Regents, and given time and effort, without thought of reward. The State farm, the pride of every loyal citizen of the State, was purchased with money advanced by Gov. Pillsbury at a time when the State was too poor to secure the land. He advanced the money, and long before it was paid back to him by the State, the lands had multiplied in value many times and Governor Pillsbury might have made the margin for himself instead of for the State but he stood to one side and allowed the State to reap the benefit of his foresight and wisdom.

Today the University is cramped, terribly cramped for room to do its work in the proper manner. Not a dozen professors have rooms and facilities for the best work and results and many rooms are literally packed during the recitation periods.

What is to be done? The people of the State insist upon sending their sons and daughters to the University and they stand ready to bear their share of the burden of supporting the University in a way befitting the crowning institution of Minnesota's magnificent educational system. They cannot be refused, and if they are admitted it means more expense.

The task imposed upon the Regents by the State has not been a light one and it has been administered with the strictest honesty and greatest economy, the wisest foresight and clear judgment. The record speaks for itself. Unhampered by any outside control, answerable to the people of the State as represented in the legislature the work has been done faithfully.

UNIVERSITY FINANCES FROM 1887 TO 1901.

The following table is as strong a refutation as could be asked to be made in answer to the charge that its affairs have been badly managed in the past. It is a safe statement and well within the facts of the case to say that there is not another institution of its kind in the country today that can make a better showing for the money spent. The table deserves careful study by everyone interested in the "U."

*Estimated.

Notes:—If the cost, per capita, to each person in the State to support each student in the University had remained stationary since 1887, the cost, per capita, to each person in the State at the present time would be 15.7 cents instead of 8.68 cents as it is.

If the attendance at the University had simply kept pace with the growth of the State, the atendance in 1900 would have been 611 instead of 3236. The growth of the University has been fourteen times as rapid as the growth of the State.

While the actual cost to each person in the State to support the University as a whole has increased since 1887 from 2.996 cents to 8.68 cents, the expense to each person in the State, for each student in the University, has decreased from .0072 to .0025, that is at the present time it is about one-third of what it was fifteen years ago.

The large expense to the State in 1895 is due to a deficiency appropriation of $60.000, which should really be distributed over the years 1893, 1894, and 1895.

The large item of 1896 is due to the fact that Hennepin county paid two years' taxes between August 1st, 1895 and July 1st, 1896, and should be distributed over 1896 and 1897.

It will doubtless be of interest to the alumni to know the items which make up the sum total of the income of the University. The figures given below are for the year ending July 31st, 1901.

Balance in treasury July 31st, 1900		$ 80,014.22
Interest on land contracts	$ 23,982.59
Interest on University bonds	26,715.00
Interest on Village bonds	2,027.00
Interest on bank deposits	461.15

DEBATE AND ORATORY.

Never in its history has Minnesota won such honors in these lines. Magnificent victories were won over Chicago, Iowa and Michigan, and a scarcely less magnificent debate was lost to Wisconsin. It is fitting that the alumni should know the names of the individuals who have so honored Alma Mater.

In the Chicago debate Minnesota was represented by

Benjamin Drake
Hugh J. MacClearn,
Willis I. Norton.

They supported the negative of the proposition—

Resolved, That the policy of the United States in granting the franchise to the negro was hasty and ill-advised.

In the Michigan debate the same men represented Minnesota and won while arguing against the permanent retention of the Philippines.

Professor McDermott writes of this debate:

"The debate was the best intercollegiate forensic contest ever held in Chicago.

" 'Music Hall' is in the Auditorium Block. It seats 1054 and at 8:30 it was comfortably filled.

"The audience was made up of undergraduates from Chicago and Northwestern universities and alumni from the four universities constituting the league and quite a sprinkling of men who claim eastern universities for their alma mater. It was select and the most attentive audience I have seen at a debate. These people knew what a debate was and this debate, on a live issue, discussed by experienced debaters who knew every phase of their question and could not be caught 'off guard,' seemed to please them immensely.

"Every bold attack, every successful repulse, every skillful turning of a point to the advantage of either side was instantly recognized and rewarded. Not once, but twenty times did the audience break into hearty applause. There was not a dull moment in the debate. From first to last the contest was so close and spirited that the whole audience was constantly on the qui vive.

Individually and as a team the Michigan men were strong. They were well balanced and it is difficult to say which one did the most for his alma mater. Probably O'Connor was the strongest man in delivery, but it was the opinion of many that he came dangerously near damaging his own cause by trying to force Minnesota on to ground that they had not tried to hold. It was only a small blemish on O'Conner's otherwise splendid work.

"Michigan took a bold stand on the negative and took it promptly. Within the first minute she announced that she was there not simply to attack a position of the Affirmative which favored ultimate abandonment of the Islands but to plead for a 'territorial policy.' Every time the Affirmative made a strong claim in favor of abandonment the Negative promptly accepted it and went on to show that these same advantages claimed for abandonment would accrue under the territorial system and many advantages beside.

"But while the Michigan team was making these savage attacks the Minnesota men were looking carefully after their own fences. They started out with the laudable purpose of establishing a clear case in the minds of the judges and they did not permit themselves to be drawn away from this purpose for one moment.

"In the attempt to draw the Minnesota men from their plan into side issues the Michigan men did some very skillful work. They threw out all kinds of tempting bait but try as they would, Drake, Norton and McClearn would not bite. Then when they felt that they had brought their proposition clearly before the judges they turned their attention in their rebuttal speeches to repelling the attacks of their opponents, and they made a thorough job of it too.

"Drake is always good when at his best, and he outdid his best in his rebuttal.

"Norton was not in physical condition to do his best in the recent Chicago debate. As a result he lost caste somewhat with many of his supporters who did not understand this fact. But if they had heard him against Michigan they would promptly have elevated him to his old position.

"Perhaps McClearn was the hit of the evening.

"In the early part of the debate Michigan seemed to have slightly the advantage of her opponents if one were to judge from popular applause.

"When McClearn arose to deliver the fifth speech on the debate, the battle had long been on in dead earnest.

"Although he spoke deliberately and under excellent self-control while he rebutted briefly but successfully two points of his opponents and caught up and bound together the threads of argument left by his colleagues, it was plain to see and feel volcanic fires were smoldering beneath.

"Four of five minutes from the end where he came upon the moral argument and began to plead for the honor of the country his emotion 'would not down' and he eclipsed all his former efforts. Again and again the audience would have cheered but time was precious and Mac would not wait. As he finished, an old university alumnus leaned over to me and said, 'That little fellow reminds me of Bourke Cocrane.' President James stood for nearly two minutes before he could announce the next speaker. From this on Minnesota got the lion's share of popular support. Such a plea as McClearn's could not fall upon deaf ears in an American audience.

"There were two republicans and one democrat selected to act as judges and on that account the feeling before the debate was quite strong that Michigan might have the best of it for she always has a strong team.

"But when the decision came, "Unanimous for Minnesota," there was scarcely a dissenting voice in the large audience.

"Michigan knows how to take defeat and how to take victory modestly. Her sons are true gentlemen and it is a pleasure to meet them. E. E. McDermott.

In the debate with Iowa Minnesota was represented by Alex Janes,
Owen P. McElmeel,
Olai A. Lende.

They supporting the affirmative of the question—Resolved, That the United States should permanently hold and govern the Philippines."

In the debate with Wisconsin, Minnesota was represented by James H. Kane,
Ralph C. Wedge,
James B. Ladd.

upholding the affirmative of the question, Resolved, That railroad rates should be fixed by the government."

The loss of the Wisconsin debate was a great disappointment to all friends of the University and it was a great surprise to those who knew how well and faithfully the Minnesota men had made preparation for the debate. There never was a better prepared team, representing this institution in an intercollegiate debate, than the one which represented Minnesota in the debate with Wisconsin. The men were experienced debaters and had their subject thoroughly well in hand.

Though defeated, the men did themselves, and the university they represented, honor in the manner in which they presented their case and met the arguments of their opponents; and they are entitled to the same honors which we have so gladly accorded to the teams which have won such notable victories during the past year.

ATHLETICS.

Football. Sufficient time has elapsed since the close of the football season, so that the first bitterness of defeat has passed away, and we may take a more judicial survey of the results of the whole season, than was possible at an earlier date. The early games of the season, in fact all of the games played at home, were in a sense disappointing. Not that the team did not show itself clearly superior to all teams met, but because the team was very evidently not playing the kind of football it was capable of playing. There was not a game, up to the game with Wisconsin, in which Minnesota could not easily have doubled the score. Whether this was good football tactics is a matter which is an open question. The result of the Wisconsin game would seem to show that it was not good tactics. A team that gets into the habit of not playing up to its limit, or soldiering, is likely to soldier once too often and realize the fact only when it is too late to redeem itself. This was the case in the Wisconsin game. There is not a Minnesota man who has followed the fortunes of the year's team, who does not feel that Minnesota has the strongest team in the West, and a stronger team than that of 1900, yet Wisconsin won a decisive victory.

A careful examination of the reports of the games of the season shows that Minnesota's goal line was never once in danger, save in the single game when she went down to overwhelming defeat. It is a remarkable record, surpassing that of the wonderful 1900 championship team. Under conditions similar to those of last year, all of the games, save one, played on the home field, Minnesota would have won an undisputed title to the championship again this year.

It may seem like a case of "sour grapes" for us to say that we think that entirely too much is made of the championship. It is a much more creditable thing for a team to play the best game that it is capable of playing than to win the championship. Although making a wonderful record, Minnesota has done neither of these things this year. If Minnesota had played up to the limit of her ability in all the games of this year, there would have been no cause for regret at the outcome, and it is more than probable that if Minnesota had done this, in the earlier games of the season, there would have been a different story to tell concerning November 16th.

Minnesota is still in the front rank with the best teams of the West, and we thoroughly believe that she will continue to stay there, that the season of 1902 will bring out the best team that ever represented Minnesota on the gridiron. But we sincerely hope that another year different tactics may be followed. It is to be hoped that the men will be determined from the first to play football from the kick-off to the final call of time, regardless of the size of the score. If there is a disposition shown to play up to the limit there will be no kickers, whatever the outcome may be.

BASKET BALL.

Minnesota played five games with teams entitled to compete for the championship and nine other games of lesser importance. Passing over the preliminary games, the real season opened on the night of Jan. 2nd, when Minnesota met Yale and won a clean decisive victory.

YALE.

Apart from all sentiment in the case, the Yale game was a wonderful exhibition of basket ball. The visitors knew the game and played as though determined to wrest a victory at any cost but they could not keep the pace set by the Minnesota men. Some of the overhead shots for baskets made by the Yale team were wonderful but neither as individuals nor as a team were they the equals of Minnesota.

Yale was at a disadvantage in playing upon a new floor. Minnesota's handicap was even greater, playing against a team playing a much rougher game, and to crown it all the official appointed by Minnesota took every opportunity to give Minnesota the worst of it in his decisions. All things considered, Minnesota was extremely fortunate to pull out ahead at the end of the game. It was a brilliant victory and one that Minnesota will cherish the memory of for many a long day.

The game was as clear a demonstration as was needed of the fact that in athletics the West is entitled to be put in the same class with the East.

FOND DU LAC.

Next in order of the big games came Fond du Lac. This team is made up of giants. Every man reached beyond the six foot notch and the Minnesota men looked like pygmies beside them. But the battle was not to the strong. In some respects this team was the most remarkable of any met by Minnesota this season. They were all stars and have played together for years and so have their team work down to a fine point. With the advantage of their great height they played a game using an overhead pass that was exceedingly hard to break up and they were sure for a basket if given but half a show. But they could not get around the way the Minnesota boys could and so were defeated.

This team last year tied with Ravenswood for the championship of the United States and when the tie was played off, lost to Ravenswood by a single point.

The winning of this game was a decided "feather in the cap" of the Minnesota team.

NEBRASKA.

The Nebraska team was the next victim of moment. The one-sided score does indicate the merits of the game, which from a spectator's standpoint was one of the best of the season. It was a case of speed against weight, and speed won by a large margin. The team is very enthusiastic over the Nebraska game and have the highest praise for their oponents. The men on the Nebraska team were big fellows, six footers and built for foot ball, a game in which several had won great honors, but the little Minnesota men played all around them and shot baskets at will.

WISCONSIN.

The game with Wisconsin, when all things are taken into account, was the best of the season. Zest was added to a really remarkable game, by the sense of intense rivalry between the two universities, Minnesota undoubtedly played the best game of the season and the Wisconsin team was determined not to be defeated. In speed, the two teams were not unlike but there the likeness ends. Minnesota played a clean game with no unnecessary roughness. Wisconsin played a rough game. The work of the individual men on the Minnesota team was subordinated to team work and the team work told. Never was the outcome for a moment in doubt. Minnesota took the lead and kept it by a comfortable and increasing margin all the way through.

Every man on the Minnesota team broke his individual record by fairly outdoing himself. It was wonderful work and a sight that no one who was privileged to see it will soon forget. The game was to this season's basket ball what the Northwestern game was to foot ball of the season of 1900—he culmination of the season's work. The work of the men and team was absolutely faultless. At any other time during the season Wisconsin might have been a much more dangerous proposition, but on the day they met Minnesota they were hardly to be put in the same class.

IOWA.

In many respects the Iowa game was disappointing and had it not been for the great rally in the last half, would have been entirely so. Some of the Minnesota men say that Iowa was the surest on basket shooting of any team met this year; but their team work failed to connect and so enable them to get the ball within range of the basket.

THE TEAM:

The greatest praise that can be accorded to the men is to say that together they constituted a great team. The individual was willing to sink self for the good of the whole and this has been the secret of the final scores. There have been teams just as brilliant as individual players, just as sure in goal shooting, just as sure in passing, but no team has come anywhere near our team in the combining all of these features in a harmonious whole so as to secure the largest results in team work.

The characteristics of the team has been its exceeding quickness in getting the ball in proper position for shots, the lightness with which its members moved over the floor, the lightning speed of the passes down the floor, the dodging, and the floor pass. And with it all the members have been very sure in basket shooting, without which all the rest is of no avail. To say that the team work was well nigh perfect is to give the highest praise to each individual on the team and to the coach, Dr. Cooke.

That the team work has been so marked and that the individuals have ever been ready to sacrifice a brilliant try for a basket in order to allow another man to make a sure thing of the basket explains why it is that Minnesota has won every game of the season by handsome margins.

AN ALL-OPPONENTS TEAM.

The following team has been chosen by the 'Varsity team as representing the strongest team possible to be selected from all of the teams played this season.

Forwards,—Cortelyou, Nebraska;—Colton, Yale.
Center,—Helmholtz, Wisconsin.
Guards,—Utter, Fond du Lac; Lockwood, Yale.
Such a team would be a hard propositior to run up against.

DR. LOUIS J. COOKE, COACH.

Dr. Cooke, the director of the gymnasium, has coached the basket ball team this year, as in past years, and to his marvelous understanding of the niceties of the game and his wonderful power of imparting that knowledge together with a boundless enthusiasm to others, is due a great share of the credit for the season's wonderful showing, 542 points to 141 and not a game lost. There is not in this country today a better man for the work.

BASKET BALL AT THE SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE.

The basket ball team of the School of Agriculture has also made a very enviable record for its self meeting but one defeat during the whole season. The following is the record:

Total number of points scored by the Agricultural team during the season, 801.

Total number of points scored by its opponents during the season, 148.

BASEBALL.

In baseball Minnesota did so little of which to be proud that it is hardly worth while mentioning. The one bright spot was the defeat of Wisconsin.

THE ELLIOT SCHOLARSHIP LOAN FUND.

To fulfill the wish of the late Dr. A. F. Elliot to aid young men who find their efforts to obtain a practical education embarrassed through lack of means, the income of $5,000, amounting to $250 per year, is placed in the hands of the Board of Regents to be used as a scholarship loan fund for assisting young men in the school of mines.

The conditions of granting the scholarship loans are: The financial needs of the applicant, his scholarship, moral character, enthusiasm shown in his work and promise of usefulness in his profession. When money is available it may be loaned to pay expenses of worthy students during sickness. The loans are to be repaid, without interest, at the earliest convenience of the recipints.

For the School of Agriculture.

John D. Ludden has given $5,000 to assist needy and deserving students to secure an education in the school. Particulars of the gift are not yet made public.

Mrs. Gale's Gift.

At a meeting of the Board of Regents in June the following proposition was recieved from Mrs. Sarah Pillsbury Gale. '88:

"As a means of emphasizing the natural beauty of the University campus, and as an appropriate segregating of the University grounds, and the life there represented from the public thoroughfare, I desire to construct in the near future, a fence of stone and iron of artistic design, along the front of the campus, on University avenue from Fourteenth avenue to the end of the grounds.

"It is my wish to present such a fence when completed, to the University, as a gift in memory of my beloved father, John S. Pillsbury, and I ask the consent of your honorable body to that end."

The consent asked for was granted and the fence will probably be put in place in the near future.

The proposed fence will add dignity to the campus and will be another memorial to keep before the coming generations of students the life of the noble man they will never be privileged to know and yet one to whom they will owe much. Hallowed from the beginning, by its association with the memory of the "Father of the University," it will in time come to have its own associations and we doubt not will become one of the most treasured features of the University landscape.

The University has too few of the things which stand for mere beauty and sentiment and we believe that the proposition of Mrs. Gale will be hailed with genuine pleasure by all who are connected with the University.

OFFICERS OF THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION.

President, FRED B. SNYDER, '81.
Vice-President, WILLIS MASON WEST, '79.
Treasurer, FRANK MALOY ANDERSON, '94.

Proposed Monument to Student Soldiers.

As this matter has already been placed so fully before the alumni it is hardly worth while to go into details or to argue the desirability of having the same completed at as early a date as possible.

Professor Haynes, chairman of the committee reports the state of the fund as follows:

Amount needed, $5000; amount pledged, $3234; balance, $1766.

Alumni who feel an interest in the matter, and that should include every graduate of the University, are requested to send in their pledge, or better still cash, to help this worthy undertaking to completion.

Make check payable to Arthur E. Haynes, or send pledge to him, care of the University.
